

Contents

Foreword	9
Chapter I The Human Landscape	11
Introduction	13
Once a Lasting Relation	18
The Arbitrary Date	20
Notes	23
Chapter II The Use of Graves	31
Introduction	33
A Grøntoft Case	44
Graves as a Predicament	48
In-Depth Examples	57
First Conclusion: Why are Graves Needed?	117
Second Conclusion: (1) Cemetery Themes	120
Second Conclusion: (2) The Decked-Out	125
Notes	128
Chapter III Ordering House and Settlement	137
Introduction	139
The House as Remains	142
The House as a Life Span	156
Understanding Tacitus	160
The House as a Balance	171
Balance as a Common Notion	183
Summing up 'Landscape' and the Changing Settlement Order	187
Notes	193
Chapter IV Building Permanent Villages and Farms	199
Introduction	201
In the Beginning of the Common Era	202
Emancipation and the Economic Turn	222
Vendehøj	229
The New Dwelling Quarters, NDQ	236
The Hall	251
Præstestien	260
The Eketorp Ringfort	271

Conclusion	278
Notes	280
Chapter V Ordinary Communities	285
Introduction—the Ölandic Example.....	287
The Siwan Example.....	298
Qureishet-Zaitun.....	303
Öland and Siwa	322
Notes	325
Chapter VI The Landscape of Warfare	329
Introduction.....	331
Warfare Offerings and Central Places.....	331
A Close-up of Fyn	340
The Geography of Conflict.....	348
Maritime Warfare.....	353
War on Land.....	361
Battlefield Preserved.....	364
The Hall at Uppåkra.....	369
Conclusion	377
Notes.....	381
Chapter VII Synthesis.....	387
Introduction—Two Settlement Landscapes.....	389
Burial Landscapes	395
The Loss of Dynamics	399
Landscapes of War	404
The Progress Made.....	406
Notes.....	411
Bibliography.....	413